NAZIS ACKNOWLEDGE EVACUATION OF RZHEV

Fortress Cleared According to Plan, Germans Declare

London, March 3.—(AP)—The German high command in a communique broadcast by the Berlin radio announced today the evacuation of the town of Rzhev, 130 miles west and slightly north of Moscow, saying German forces with drew according to plan in order to shorten the front line.

The announcement of the Rzhev evacuation was read over the radio first as a DNB dispatch and about 10 minutes later a cryptic message was read saying that this had been "withdrawn."

About a half hour later, however, the original announce ment was repeated, this time the source being given as a communique.

"London military sources declined to speculate on just where the shortened line might be established but some observers said they thought it might go back to Smolensk, establishing a front running northwest from Smolensk to Velikie Lukki and southeast to Bryansk."

BY EDDIE GILMORE

Moscow, March 3.—(P)—German counterattacks have increased from the far northern Russian front to the Black Sea sector and together with the weather have slowed the offensives of the Soviet armies today.

The sharpest Nazi counterblows came in the Donets Basin area southwest of Voroshilovgrad where they have been massing tanks for some time and attacking with strong infantry and aerial detachments.

New German outfits have appeared on several sectors of the front. The biggest was another contingent from Holland, including the 167th infantry division which the Russians said was on the front west of Kharkov.

The Red army, however, was on the offensive in all sectors except southwest of Voroshilovgrad, and all of their drives have made plodding progress although no place names have been mentioned by the Soviet war bulletins in more than 24 hours.

Bad weather is occurring on many fronts and raising havoc with motorized transport so vital where railways are not yet working in recaptured areas.

The worst weather currently is probably in the Kuban sector of the North Caucasus where the Germans are making a strong bid to keep a foothold.

The army newspaper, Red Star, said in a dispatch that "roads are bad, there are frequent rains and almost impassable mud everywhere" in that area.

COMPROMISE SOUGHT FOR RUMML PLAN

Canadian Plan to Forego 50 Per Cent of '42 Taxes Viewed As Possible Substitute

NOT NEW SUGGESTION

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY
Washington, March 3.—(P)—The Canadian plan to forego 50 per cent of 1942 taxes on earned personal income was viewed as a possible pay-as-you-go compromise for the United States today by some leading opponents of the Rumml plan to abate all of one year's taxes.

The joint congressional tax staff requested Ottawa to furnish Washington with more details on its plan immediately.

Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the tax-framing house ways and means committee pointed out that Canada's action was similar to a suggestion he already has made to break the deadlock on the question of how much taxes should be abated to ease the transition to pay-as-you-go.

However, Rep. Carlson (R-Kas.), author of legislation embracing the proposal by Beardsley Rumml, New York banker, to by-pass a full tax year, said he could accept no plan that required the collection of more than one year's taxes within one year, in the swap-over to a current collection system.

Doughton told reporters he knew of no state or city which has abated a full year's taxes and that he did not think now is any time for the federal government to make such an experiment.

Carlson explained the revised measure as follows:

1. Personal income taxes would be assessed against current income and withheld from current earnings.
2. The 1942 personal income tax liability would be abated—except, in order to prevent the possibility of windfalls (undue tax abatement from wide wartime variations in individual income), persons having an income in excess of $20,000 would pay personal income taxes (Turn to Page Nine)

At least four transports and cargo vessels of the original armada of seven Japanese warships and seven merchant ships have been sunk or damaged, and 13 Japanese fighter planes out of the umbrella of 30 or 40 that tried to provide protection to the convoy have been shot out of action, Allied headquarters announced.

"Our losses are light. The battle continues," a headquarters communique said.

The bulletin said a 10,000-ton transport had been hit five times and left awash and in flames; and 8,000-ton transport had been sunk after breaking in two; a 6,000-ton vessel was directly hit on the bow, and a smaller vessel was damaged and set on fire.

London, March 3.—(P)—Objectives in western Germany were attacked again last night by the RAF, the air ministry announced today, acknowledging that three Allied aircraft were missing after the seventh successive night of raids on continental targets.

The ministry did not identify last night's targets. It said also that mines were laid in enemy waters.

A Berlin broadcast said that comparatively few planes participated in the raids on Germany and spoke of bad weather over the continent.

Contrary to expectations the Germans failed to retaliate for Monday night's smashing RAF raid on Berlin by striking at London with one of their customary face-saving attacks last night.

Reuters reported from Stockholm, meanwhile, declared that great fires still were raging last night in the German capital as a result of the worst pounding it has received from the RAF since the start of the war. German broadcasts last night said that 191 persons had been killed and 265 injured in the raid on Berlin.

Washington, March 3.—(P)—A grim warning to expect a 10 per cent casualty rate in navy personnel was laid before congress and the nation today as Secretary of the Navy Knox disclosed an operating force plan calling for a navy "big enough to dominate all seas over the world."

The solemn navy estimate that it would lose, and have to replace, one man out of each ten—killed or wounded—came as Knox and ranking naval officials unfolded their program for building up personnel strength to 2,250,000 by July 1944.

Knox's outline of the navy's "operating force" plan and his figures on potential costs of the sea warfare were made public by the income subcommittee on naval appropriations as it completed work on a new $4,000,000,000 supplemental naval spending bill.

As it emerged from the subcommittee the measure carried $3,816,206,583 in direct appropriations—a reduction of $187,793,417 from the budget estimates—and contract authorizations, amounting to $239,740,400.

Prospects Of Lifting Ban During Month

OPA Spokesman Declares March 22d is Possible Date

NO DEFINITE ACTION

Washington, March 3.—(P)—There is a possibility the east coast ban on pleasure driving may be lifted March 22, an Office of Price Administration spokesman said today, but no definite action or date has been decided upon.

Speculation has centered on March 22 because that is the deadline for expiration of the present period four coupon, worth three gallons in the Atlantic seaboard states.

It was disclosed that Dr. Robert E. Wilson, chairman of the economics committee of the Petroleum Industry War Council meeting, suggested informally yesterday that the ban be lifted as soon as stocks on hand warrant.

Dr. Wilson told the council that public cooperation in the quasi-voluntary ban had been "surprisingly good," according to a government official who attended the session, but went on to say that the government, if it wished to get similar cooperation in future emergencies, should lift the prohibition as soon as the lessened urgency of the situation warrants.

To keep consumption within bounds of supply when the ban is abolished, he was quoted as suggesting, the OPA should regulate the value of the A coupons, trimming them as far as necessary.

This gave color to a report that the A coupons might be cut to as low as two-gallon value in the east when and if the restriction is removed. The OPA spokesman said this, too, was in the realm of possibility.

RED CROSS PACKING CENTER IS DEDICATED

Philadelphia, March 3.—(P)—Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, and several other foreign diplomats assisted in the dedication today of the first American Red Cross packing center for Allied prisoners of war.

The center, a former factory, will be operated by 500 women volunteers, and already is stocked with thousands of cases of canned goods for shipment abroad.

After the dedication the group was invited to view the loading of the Swiss steamer Caritas, now at a Philadelphia pier taking on supplies for war prisoners. The ship will leave soon for Marseilles, manned by a crew of Swiss, Swedish and Portuguese sailors.

PROPOSE TAX TO HIKE PAY OF TEACHERS

New Levies to Meet Suggested Salary Increases Is an Issue in Legislature

POST - WAR PLAN BILL

Harrisburg, March 3.—(P)—The possibility of new taxes to increase salaries of Pennsylvania's 60,000 public school teachers was raised in the legislature today.

Senator Weldon B. Heyburn, Republican floor leader, said during debate in the senate that if higher teacher salaries were provided "we'll have to levy new taxes," and added:

"If both parties of the legislature can work out some taxing scheme they can sell to the public, I am sure the governor will approve it."

Governor Martin previously said that if the assembly passed legislation that would increase the expenses of the state government, companion legislation to finance it must also be enacted.

The legislature, meanwhile, received a new post-war planning bill which excludes the governor from a proposed 10-member reconstruction commission, at his own request.

Introduced by Reps. Robert D. Fleming (R-Allegheny) and John H. McKinney (R-Venango), the measure calls for the appointment of a director and proposes a $200,000 appropriation to prepare its program.

Getting down to work speedily on the commonwealth's $472,000,000 budget, house and senate appropriations committees called members of Martin's cabinet to justify departmental fund allocations.

First to appear before a joint session of the committees were officials seeking deficiency appropriations, with other cabinet officers to follow.

In the senate, approval was given to a bill to waive the three-day waiting period for marriage licenses issued to members of the armed forces. Despite objections (Turn to Page Nine)

D. M. Hancock, of Westline, dean of charcoal industry men in this section, died unexpectedly yesterday about 1:30 p. m., near Kinzua when he was stricken by a heart attack as he prepared to inspect a timber tract in which he was interested. His age was 86.

He headed the Union Charcoal and Chemical company of Westline.

Mr. Hancock had alighted from his car a few minutes before and was walking, in company with his foreman, Alex Haddix of Westline, towards a house nearby when he was stricken. Death is believed to have occurred almost immediately.

AXIS THRUSTS IN NORTH ARE BEATEN BACK

Planes Bomb and Shoot Up Enemy Concentrations At Several Points In Tunisia

RACING TO THE COAST

By HAROLD V. BOYLE
Allied Headquarters in North Africa, March 3.—(AP)—Allied forces maintained their pressure on the enemy in northern Tunisia yesterday and their heavy artillery inflicted considerable damage on Axis positions north of Beja and east of the crossroads town of Sedjenane, a communique said today.

Expanding their holdings in pursuit of Marshal Rommel's defeated armored forces, Allied vanguards "pressed on to the south and southeast of Sbeitla," the recaptured rail town 125 miles southwest of Tunis.

The communique reported there was little activity in the central sector and said only patrol activity was developed by the British Eighth Army, which is pressing upon the Mareth Line.

Allied troops beat back small thrusts by the Axis in northern Tunisia, spokesmen said, while Allied planes bombed and shot up enemy troop concentrations at several points, knocked down five Axis fighters and a bomber and heavily attacked Tunis and the nearby harbor of La Goulette.

Heavy artillery of the American-supported British First Army shelled enemy positions, Axis infantry and vehicles advancing on the road four miles east of Sedjenane, 12 miles from the coast, and the enemy withdrew after losing four armored cars.

Peace of Forgiveness and Charity Plea of Mme. Chiang

By EDITH GAYLORD
New York, March 3.—(P)—Madame Chiang Kai-Shek—the voice of an ill-armed people tortured for six years by the flames of war—has called for a peace of charity and forgiveness for the enemy when the day of United Nations' victory arrives.

Speaking last night to 17,000 people attending a meeting in her honor in Madison Square Garden and to a nation-wide radio audience, the wife of the Chinese generalissimo declared:

"The goal of our common struggle at the conclusion of this war should be to shape the future so that this whole world must be thought of as one great state common to Gods and men."

Triumphant in her own right against exhaustion and recent fainting spells, Mme. Chiang voiced a plea for a post-war world "resting on the pillars of justice, co-existence, cooperation and mutual respect."

Another scheduled broadcast by Mme. Chiang this afternoon has been cancelled, the National Broadcasting Company announced.

any community where contamination is gold.

Women Organizing Division For Red Cross Fund Drive

An important meeting was held yesterday afternoon at the Red Cross War Fund headquarters at which Mrs. E. G. Hamilton, chairman of the Residential Division met with her five division managers as follows: Central district—Mrs. J. W. A. Luce; East Side district—Mrs. Moss A. Connelly; South Side district—Mrs. Paul C. Braunschweiger; West End district—Mrs. Marie Clark Dillon; the Upper Conewango district—Mrs. Charles A. Pettibone. The immediate task confronting these ladies is to each enlist five team captains.

There will be another meeting under Chairman Mrs. Hamilton at the Y. W. C. A., on the second floor of the activities building, on Friday, at one o'clock in the afternoon, of all of the division managers and all their captains.

Mrs. Hamilton stated this morning that it is essential that every division manager and captain be present because at this meeting the captains will select the prospective members for their teams. Under the plan to be followed the various captains and team members will be residents of the particular district in which they will work.

Much enthusiasm was in evidence at the meeting yesterday, and no difficulty is being anticipated in lining up the complete residential organization. The realization that the work of the Red Cross is so tremendously important and necessary in these days of war will cause everyone to make personal sacrifices in order to work in the campaign, the success of which means so much to our men in the armed forces of the nation.

TOWNSEND MEETING

Townsend Club No. 2 will hold its regular meeting in Townsend Hall at eight o'clock Thursday evening, preceded by a tureen dinner at 6:15. All members and interested friends are invited and all attending are asked to bring tureens, bread and "spread," the coffee and cream to be provided.

TO LOSE RATIONS
Holders of B and C gasoline ration books who failed to have their tires inspected by the deadline last Saturday will lose their rations. The OPA has announced in Philadelphia. An official estimated that as many as forty per cent of the 120,000 B and C holders in Philadelphia failed to comply.

PRINT CRITICISMS
Members of the Warren Camera Club attending the meeting Friday evening at the home of Bernard Joy, Prospect street, are asked to bring recent prints for criticism by the group. The club's exhibit continues in the show window at the Borg Studio, where a new set of prints has been arranged for enjoyment of the public.

GUARD RATION BOOK
Consumers should guard their ration books No. 2 as they do their money according to a warning from the OPA. War ration book No. 1 may be replaced after certain requirements are met but no provision has been made for replacing mutilated or lost Ration Book 2. Loss will mean deprivation of the permission to buy food stuffs at least for a time.

SEALING BEAVER SKINS
Game protectors are sealing beaver hides here today and at Sheffield tomorrow. The beaver season has been an excellent one and the average price paid for hides has been about $30. At Tidouite yesterday 75 pelts were sealed and a like number were sealed at Tionesta. The trapping season will bring several thousands of dollars into this section.

FATHER-SON EVENT
Men and boys of the Chancellors Valley United Brethren church enjoyed a fine father-son banquet at the church, with Kenneth Haight as toastmaster. Oliver Swanson gave the toast to sons and Gene Spencer answered for the sons. Mr. Haight played guitar accompaniment for two men's quartet selections and presented as guest speaker Rev. W. G. Woodward, United Brethren minister of Warren. He closed his talk with a showing of interesting movies. The Ladies' Aid was in charge of serving the delicious supper.

SNOW COVERED HIGHWAYS
Snow which started to fall early last evening piled about three inches over the highways in some sections of the county and caused the snow plows and cinder trucks to take to the roads. On the rural highways there was more snow than about the city and in some places drifts of somewhat large proportions formed. The department had the highways cleared this morning and there was no obstructing of traffic. In the city the borough trucks were out early this morning hauling away snow from the business section.

The bowling committee announced plans for a handicap tournament to be held over the coming weekend, and the committee in charge of cribbage reminded that the tournament which has been under way through the winter months will be terminated March 10th. Courtesy cards authorized by the grand lodge for sons and brothers of members to be used in the service were issued to five. Several applications were received and other routine business disposed of. The session was followed by the usual social evening.

POSTERS ON BLACKOUT
Four hundred posters have been received at the Council of Defense office showing the best practice to follow during a blackout under the new rules adopted in this state some time ago. Any who desire one of the posters can secure it by calling at the Council office 311 Market street. Chairman Allen Gibson, of the County Council of Defense stated today that all agencies of the Civilian Defense force are in readiness to handle the blackout tomorrow evening at 8:30 when the blue signal will be sounded.

Dinner Opens Dedication Week at First Methodist Here

The First Methodist church's congregational dinner and organizational roll call presided over by Pastor Wayne Furman was the opening event in the observance of the National Week of Dedication and was attended by about 150. A. H. Templeton, lay leader, gave the invocation and group singing was led by E. R. Hagberg with Carroll A. Fowler at the piano. The pastor then introduced Superintendent Earle G. Flohr, who reviewed activities of the church school and challenged teachers and officers to achieve certain important advance goals. He presented Mrs. Dorothy Holmberg, children's superintendent, who gave a resume of cradle roll, kindergarten, primary and junior departments and the extra session of the junior division.

Next was Earle Christensen, young people's leader, who presented Alan Templeton for the Young People's department report and Marion Kridler for the Youth Fellowship. Speaking for the young adult class, R. L. Blodgett showed this unit's efforts to maintain contact with young people in the armed forces. Mrs. N. D. Paterson told of Allen Class charities, benevolence, activities and objectives. Projects at home and abroad were given by Mrs. Cramer for the Ruth Circle and E. G. Garber presented activities and projects of the Men's Bible Class. Support for the weekday religious education program was one of this group's purposes.

WCS events were reviewed by Mrs. A. F. Kottkamp. Ray Lewis, Scoutmaster, called upon Forest Bainbridge for work of the Boy Scouts and Mrs. A. J. Weiler recounted Girl Scout achievements, with Catherine Reed speaking for the Brownie pack. Carroll Fowler spoke for the choir; I. A. Reed for the ushers. E. R. Hagberg explained objectives of the Week of Dedication and challenged the congregation to set aside the week for prayer, self-dedication and self sacrifice. The closing prayer was given by E. W. Smiley.

As evidence of their consecration Methodists are making a sacrificial offering which will be used to re-equip and re-establish missionaries driven out of war areas and make it possible for others to provide food, shelter and medicines for war victims of Europe and Asia; enable the church to provide needed equipment for the 1,000 chaplains in the armed service; and give some assistance to overburdened churches in defense and war areas. It is hoped this church will match the $948 offering of two years ago for the Fellowship of the Suffering.

Organizing Groups in County To Battle With Forest Fires

Women and young people over sixteen years of age will join with men to fight forest fires in Warren county, according to plans announced by George E. Spinney, who has been appointed head of the Forest Fire Fighter Service in Warren County. This organization is being established throughout the state under the direction of the Office of Civilian Defense to "assist in safeguarding personal property, homes and forest lands, and aid in the prevention and suppression of fires, incendiary bombs, ground saboteurs, carelessness of any kind whatsoever."

"We have been asked to employ women and young people to augment available manpower in suppressing forest fires," said Mr. Spinney.

The twenty-three townships which comprise the county have been organized into twenty "sectors." Each sector is in charge of a Sector Chief and several assisting Section Leaders who are enrolling and training "volunteers" in fire prevention practices and suppression techniques.

This large organization will take speedy action to stop fires while they are small and thus protect homes and property.

The Forest Fire Fighter Service affords an opportunity for several hundred to organize and train themselves to control the "red enemy" and to contribute to the war effort by protecting vital forest and property values. This volunteer organization will serve to save hundreds of man days devoted to war effort production. One mother stated—"We can help to protect our home front while the boys save the country."

Any person desiring to join the Forest Fire Fighter Service as a "volunteer," or to receive information regarding this Office of Civilian Defense organization, may do so by writing to George E. Spinney, Chief, or to J. S. B. Pees, Assistant Chief, Warren, Pennsylvania.

Class Starts Training In Firing School

An enrollment of approximately 42 citizens, many of them future Army inductees, started learning the rudiments of rifle marksmanship here last night, in the War Department-approved Small Arms Firing School sponsored by the National Rifle Association under the auspices of the Warren Rifle Club and the Cornplanter Gun Club. The classes were held at the Warren Army Range, starting at 7:30 p. m.

Classes will be held every Tuesday night, until the basic course of six weeks is completed. At the conclusion of this course, school officials declared, students will have become sufficiently indoctrinated in the fundamentals of rifle marksmanship as taught by the Army, Navy and Marine Corps to pass smoothly into the more advanced service training or even be called upon when in the service to act as coaches for untrained recruits. That, they revealed, is what motivated the War Department to make available, through the NRA, several million rounds of .22 caliber ammunition for all approved Small Arms Firing Schools throughout the country using a standardized course of instruction.

This instruction course starting last evening, covered the following basic subjects: Nomenclature of rifle and cartridge, to give the students a general knowledge of the important working parts of any military-type rifle they might use; Safety, to show how guns can be handled with no chance of an accident; Shooting positions and the use of the rifle sling, teaching approved military positions and how to make best possible use of any terrain; Sighting and Aiming; Trigger Release, and sight adjustment. Concluding the School an opportunity will be given the students to fire for a nationally-recognized NRA qualification insignia. All successful graduates will be awarded certificates from the Association indicating they have completed the course. The staff of instructors whose appointment has been approved by the NRA consists of: Paul W. Yagge, Chief Instructor; P. Roger Mahaffy, Norman W. Kuhn, Alfred Nielsen, John H. Schuler, Pat Dorrance, Pat Storum, Willie Winerter and Ken Kittner as Assistant Instructors.

Due to the large enrollment one class will begin at 7 p. m. and the second group will start at 9 p. m.

THE CIGARETTE THAT GIVES SMOKERS WHAT THEY WANT

Machine Shop School State's Only One Turning Out Product

Women of this vicinity right now are being offered the biggest opportunity that they ever had to become more valuable to themselves and to their country. At the machine shop school in the South Street building next Monday another class for women will start and 20 women must be enrolled by Friday. The cost of the course to the government is $200 for each woman trained and when the trainee has finished her course there is a place waiting for her where she can earn more money than the average woman holding an office job for which she spent scores of dollars in a commercial school.

In addition to the class of 20 women there is another class forming that will give to women holding non-essential jobs an opportunity to secure the training. This class will operate from 9:30 p. m. to 1:30 a. m. and women who have a non-essential place can take this course, at perhaps some slight inconvenience but the rewards will be great.

David Levine, of the Federal Employment office states that the need of women in industry is growing by leaps and bounds as men are taken in the draft and that the demand will grow. One interesting sidelight on the Warren school is that the women trained in the school start work at an average of 15 cents the hour more than other women taken in to the plants. One woman trained in the local school is holding a place in a big defense plant as forewoman and drawing wonderful wages.

Since the school was started 52 women have been trained and 75

You Women Who Suffer From HOT FLASHES then CHILLY FEELINGS

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once. It's the best known medicine you can buy that's made especially for women.

merical houses and some who have been working in offices. They have realized the opportunity to receive free of cost a wonderful piece of training and the opportunity to acquire training of 320 hours in a most essential industry.

Mr. Levine urges that every woman who can possibly do so call at the Employment office and enroll for training. The fact that the draft will take scores of men out of plants in the county during the next few months will create a need for women in industry which has never before been felt in this county. It is a rare opportunity for women and one to which they should avail themselves.

SUGAR GROVE

Sugar Grove, Mar. 1—The home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Schoonover was the scene of a delightful social affair Friday evening when Mrs. Schoonover, entertained twenty-four women at a party announcing the coming marriage of their daughter Ruth to Milton McLallen of Phoenix, Ariz., son of Mr. McLallen of Edinboro. The marriage will take place at Easter as was disclosed in the announcement made in the form of an original poem written on tiny yellow scrolls tied with green ribbon and handed to the guests on their arrival, by Little Nancy Lou Schoonover, dressed in yellow.

The evening was spent with contests and games with prizes going to Mrs. Wilfred Jones, Mrs. Allan Frank, Mrs. Harold Corter, Mrs. Charles Chapman and Mrs. Gerald Miller.

The group was divided into four groups each making a scrap book of the life history of the guest of honor.

Dainty refreshments were served buffet style in the dining room with the color scheme of yellow and green being carried out in the table decorations of spring flowers and yellow candles.

Mrs. Schoonover was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Howard Joss, of Rochester, Mrs. Burt Schoonover.

NO SOONER SAID THAN DONE

While Ernest E. Breech was telling Bendix Aviation Corporation stockholders that the day of "automatic flying" is just around the corner, Army publicity officers were releasing the strange tale of a four-motored transport that flew 2000 miles after its crew had bailed out.

The Consolidated Liberator-type plane, you will remember, had started for South America when, 80 miles out, a bad tail flutter was noticed. Pilot R. C. Ulmer ordered his five crew members and two passengers to bail out.

When they had cleared he headed the plane out to sea, set the automatic pilot for level flight, and took to his own parachute. Reversing its course, the abandoned plane flew to Mexico and crashed against a mountain side.

Experts warn that too much significance should not be read into the incident. The plane did change its course, which would not be permissible in the fool-proof automatic machine of the future. It did crash into a mountain side instead of making a perfect landing on a pre-selected airfield and then taxiing up to the administration building or freight shed.

The present-day airplane still lacks something of what Mr. Breech had in mind when he told his stockholders about the company's progress in developing aviation instruments, and then added:

"Developments to date make it possible for me safely to say that we can see the time of automatic flying coming within the next few years."

But by some quirk of fate, the currently standard automatic controls chose to emphasize Mr. Breech's prediction by showing how close we already have come to tomorrow's miracles.

It is easier now, because of the "flying Dutchman's" accidental feat, to believe that within a few years the element of human error may be no more important in the air than on the ground.

Everybody, almost, wants to fly. We are looking forward to the day when planes—perhaps automobile-bodied helicopters—will be as simple, as safe, as convenient as motor cars are now. The engineers say we won't have long to wait. The "flying Dutchman" makes the engineers look like good prophets.

HELPING TO FEED THE SOLDIERS

Warren county 4-H Club members who are producing food crops will be interested in what their production means in terms of the food consumption of members of the armed forces.

According to figures released by the Quartermaster Division of the United States Army and similar departments of the other services, the annual food budget of one man in the armed forces is about 1,995 pounds. Among the foods included are cereals, dairy products, meat, eggs, vegetables, fruits, sugar, etc. The average farm prices in 1942 for raw materials in this food budget would total about $132.

County Agent O. C. Tritt points out that each club member cannot produce all kinds of food products, but the value of the one or more products grown can be compared with the farm value of the total foods each service man consumes.

Keeping the dollar values in mind, a 4-H corn club member would produce 111 bushels of corn to equal the value of the soldier's food for a year. A dairy club member would produce 5,515 pounds of milk, a potato club member 139 bushels of potatoes, and so on.

Of course, there would be some variations one way or another, but that adds to the interest in figuring out what a club project can do, says Mr. Tritt.

FLAT AUTOMOBILE FEE

Registration fees for your passenger car for the year 1943 will be a flat $10, regardless of make or horsepower of your machine.

Renewal applications in the mail show a fee the same as was paid last year, but these application forms were made before the recent $10 law was passed in Harrisburg and signed by Governor Martin.

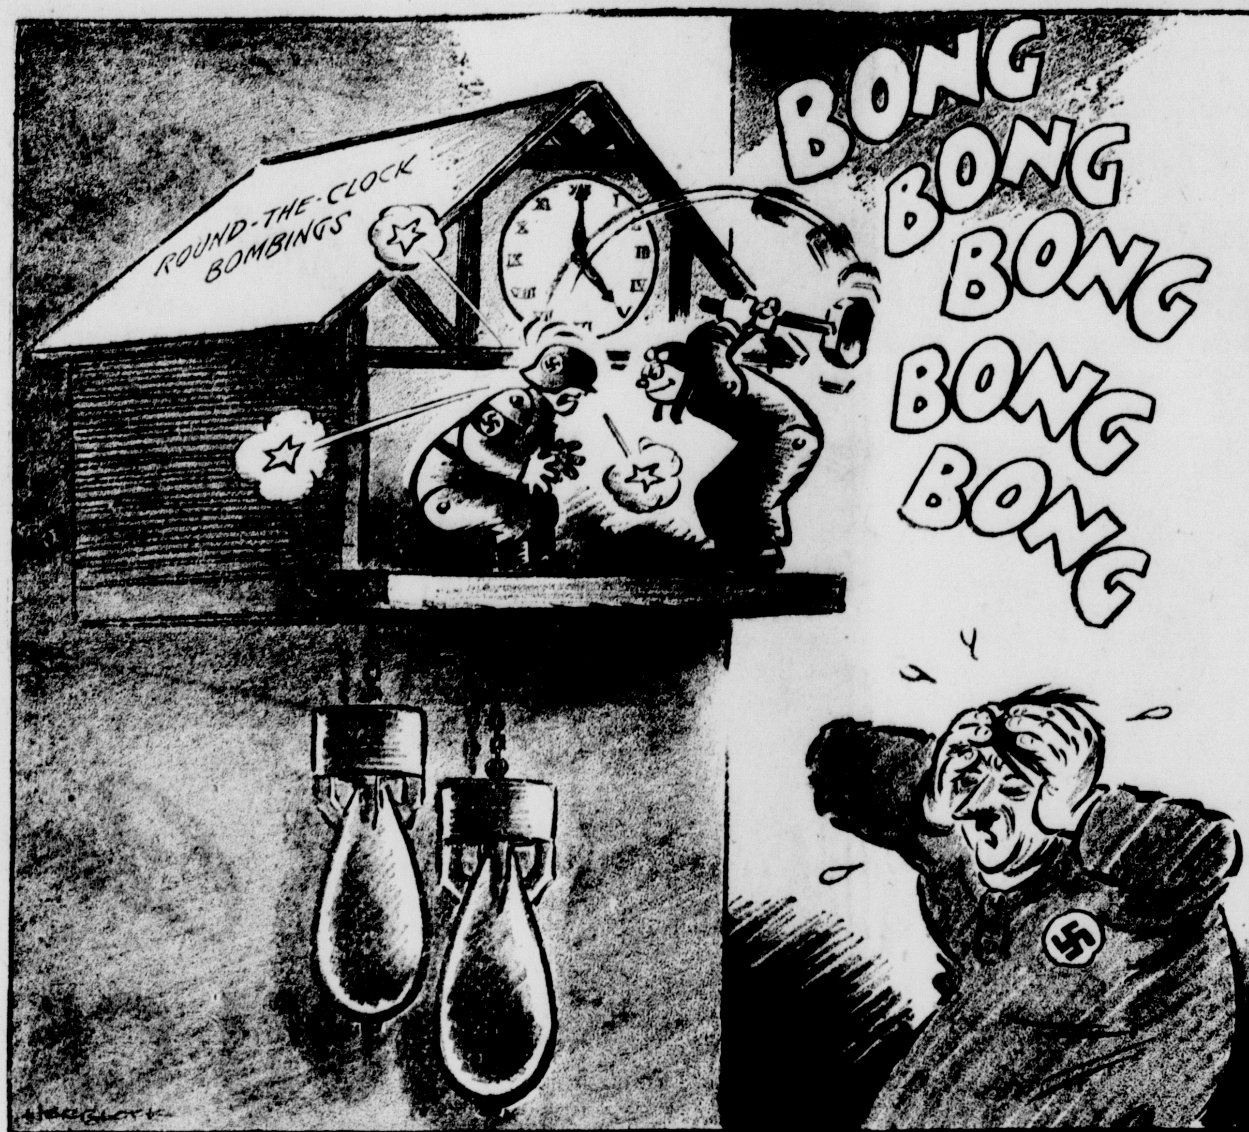

In applying for the new license, all a car owner has to do is mail in his $10 check or money order.

That's all there is to it. No need to elaborate on the point further by bringing in extraneous issues that have nothing to do with the final issue and only make more confusing what should be a simple statement of facts.

As an exchange reminds: "It's $10, no more, no less!"

Just by way of reminder, Warren's war fund drive for the Red Cross will be launched officially on Tuesday, March 16th. This is a cause so worthy there is no doubt about its success.

Insomnia

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Any day now veterans' legislation may crop up in Congress. When it does, the veterans will be better represented than they ever have been in any previous war.

A recent poll of the new Congress has disclosed that there now are 189 war veterans on the floor—28 in the Senate and 161 in the House.

Not only does this mean that more than 35 per cent of Congress will be full of sympathy and understanding in matters of rehabilitation, hospitalization and compensation for disabilities, but it also means that that portion of Congress has a working knowledge of military affairs.

TWO Senators and six Representatives date their experiences from the Spanish-American war. They are Senators Tom Connally (Texas) and Guy Gillette (Iowa) and Representatives Culin, Michener, Rogers (Pa.), Wadsworth, White and Woodruff (Mich.). Senator Gillette and Representative Culin and Woodruff also served in World War.

Representatives Maas, Satterfield, Scott, Van Zandt and Walcott have served in both World Wars I and II; and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and Representatives Lyndon Johnson, Magnuson, Will Rogers Jr., and Worley have seen service in the present conflict.

Five Senators and 36 Representatives served with the Navy, so there's no likelihood that any branch will be slighted.

BRIG. GEN. ROBERT L. DENIG, in charge of public relations for the Marine Corps, thinks he has a unique location for a press department. His offices are in the section of the Pentagon building that looks out on Arlington cemetery.

"The other morning," he said recently, "we were trying to knock out some bright pieces and there were nine funerals right outside our windows."

ONE of the fantastic stories of this war is the Civil Air Patrol's 20-cent bomb sight. The CAP's coastal patrol were convinced that they could do a lot of good if they had bombs. The Army finally agreed to let them have them—provided bomb racks and sights didn't interrupt the flow of equipment to combat planes.

Simple bomb racks, carrying 100-pound demolition bombs, were designed and installed. The bomb-sight was so uncomplimentary that the materials in it cost only 20 cents, yet pilots say they are deadly accurate up to 3,000 feet.

The little planes that patrol the coastal submarine routes now carry two demolition and two smoke bombs.

Stamp News

COLLECTORS are excited over two Chinese war issues which bear an early portrait of Dr. Sun Yat-Sen. The stamps were issued last October and are just becoming available. They are lithographed on very thin paper, and the work presumably was done in the Chinese interior.

Similar stamps formerly were engraved and were much superior in workmanship to the present stamps, but the assumption is that the Chinese were unable to move the engraving plants before the Japanese got them. The values are 30-cent in dull vermilion and 50-cent in sage-green.

Other new arrivals are a pair of Australian stamps bearing an oval portrait of Queen Elizabeth. The values are 1-4 in plum and 1-2 in green. The stamps are not identical, the backgrounds surrounding the ovals differing in arrangement of leaf-and-flower designs.

THE Dominican Republic has issued a set of four stamps which commemorate the election of Generalissimo Rafael Leonidas Trujillo Molina as president last May. Divided into three tablets, the narrow oblong contains in the left tablet the emblem of the Dominican party and a tiny oval portrait of the Generalissimo, in the center tablet a tabulation of the vote, and in the right a torch design. Values are 3-cent pale orange, 4-cent red-orange, 13-cent grape, and 51 blue-green.

IRAN (Persia) has issued a costly set of 18 values, which for the first time run up to 50 rials. Previously the highest value was 10 rials. The stamps contain views of Iran and portraits of Mohammed Riza Pahlavi. . . . Ethiopia plans to issue three new values in March, including 25-c, 30-c, and 60-c. . . . The United States Post Office department announces that the current 6-cent airmail stamps will be issued in book form containing two panes of three stamps, to be sold for 37 cents. First-day sale is March 18, and collectors may send not more than 10 addressed envelopes, to contain full panes of three stamps, to the postmaster at Washington. The Philatelic Agency will not service first-day covers.

A COMPANION of the Simon Bolivar funeral stamp issued by Venezuela, and discussed here last week, has turned up. Pegged on the same 100th anniversary of Bolivar's re-burial, the stamp commemorates the Venezuelan industrial exposition scheduled Dec. 17. The design is a symbolic arrangement of gears. The 10-cent stamp is in scarlet.

Although a Navy patrol bomber is made chiefly of metal, it actually uses more cotton fabric than a completely cotton-covered small plane.

Chapter 1

JIM BLAIR stood by the railing waiting for the gangplank to be lifted, breathing deeply of the briny San Pedro harbor air, and feeling the surge of the tide beneath the grubby decks of the Mexican freighter. The sharp, tight elation that al-ways came with the beginning of a fresh job gripped him. Con-tentedly he viewed the bedlam about him—the shouting, ges-turing Mexican crew scurry-ing about the narrow decks, the bales of boxwood being swung from pier to hold, the scream of winches, the rattling of chains. Then suddenly the rightness of the scene was broken. He frowned at the chattering group hurrying across the pier.

"My God," he murmured irri-tably. "Are we taking a girl's school down the coast of Baja California?"

The girls were thronging up the narrow gangplank now in a pell mell, laughing, rushing, to confer with a crewman and surge after him toward the freighter's cabins. Their voices and laughter floated back. "Su camarote— isn't that cute?" "It means, 'your stateroom,' silly! No wonder you pulled a 'D' in Spanish!"

Reluctantly the group left the boat just before the gangplank was raised. The girl who stayed aboard came to the rail and waved to them. Jim Blair glanced at her. Her hair was black and hung to her shoulders in glisten-ing, careless waves. She was in one of those long, school-girl sweaters and loud plaid skirts. On her rounded arm was a slender gold bracelet with one tiny heart dangling.

"Some send off," Jim Blair said humorously.

SHE raised her head then to look at him, and he felt a swift shock. It was a lovely, piquant face, with a slender nose, tilted at the end, with full lips made for tenderness and laughter, blue eyes accentuating the pallor of skin and the shining blackness of hair. She had been crying.

Her gaze, blank for an instant, seemed to focus finally on his face. With visible effort, as though recalling slowly the correct mus-cular controls required for proper behavior, she smiled. "I was a send off, wasn't it?" Her voice was low. Then she turned and crossed the narrow deck to dis-appear in the direction of her cabin.

He didn't see her again until the third day down the brown, barren coast. He had spent most of the days at work over his maps and books, but his curiosity about her rose afresh each mealtime when on his way to the small dining room, he passed the boy carrying a tray to her cabin. Of the fourteen other passengers on the Rosa all but one, a priest, were Mexicans enroute to their homes in Baja California, or Mexico. What was this lone school-girl doing here? She wasn't on a pleasure cruise, he was sure of that from her brooding misery. If her home was in Mexico why take this medieval crate way around the barren peninsula? Could she live in Baja California?

But on the next afternoon, as the passengers of the Rosa were clambering down into the small launch that was to take them for a three-hour shore stay into the white-terrace Aztec town of Santa Maria, she appeared sud-denly on deck. Jim Blair almost let the Mexican woman he was helping fall into the water.

"Hello!" he grinned.

The girl waved a hand at him and sent him a warm smile. She was in a white eyelet-linen suit, with a camera hanging by a leather strap over one shoulder. "I thought you'd taken a pow-der for the trip," Jim shouted as the launch bounced noisily in toward the shore.

"I couldn't resist going ashore," she smiled. "My name is Landa Morrison. And yours?"

"Jim Blair—at your service."

AS the little company wandered up the hot, brown streets between blindingly white build-ings, past the great bodegas heavy with the smell of oyster shells, Landa's soft, deep laugh rippled out frequently at Jim Blair's blun-dering comments. Her gay mood was in-fectious. Landa took pictures of the terraced hills, of the sapphire bay, of passing natives. In the small pearl shops, she moaned with ecstasy over the displays, purchased three pearls.

The Captain awaited them at the rail of the Rosa, exchanged quips with the passengers over their adventures, and handed Landa an envelope. "Come over our wireless after you left," he told her.

The girl's laughter died with startling abruptness. She dis-appeared with the envelope down the companionway.

He didn't expect her up for dinner and she didn't come. But later, as the crew sprawled on the cargo deck under a yellow disk of moon to sing ranchero songs to the sobbing strains of a battered guitar, Landa appeared suddenly to join Jim in his stroll.

Then he saw it—the diamond on her left hand. He blurted out in his usual blunt fashion, "You en-gaged?"

"Oh yes." Her soft voice was casual, matter-of-fact.

"To someone down here?"

She smiled at his incredulous surprise. "To Don Santos O'Shan-nessy," she told him simply. "My father bought half of his father's island. We grew up there together."

Jim Blair's natural frankness was aggravated now by curiosity. "You didn't seem too happy about his wire."

Her voice deepened to a whis-per. "That was because I was afraid it was of my father, who is ill..."

Jim was ashamed of his crude-ness. She moved away from him to the rail, her face turned north-ward, her eyes brooding. "I sup-pose I shall never go back to the United States," she murmured.

"Nonsense," Jim scoffed. "You're only separated from California by four days."

"By four centuries," she cor-rected slowly. Her gaze held the heavy, fathomless depths of the Indian. Then with one of her sudden changes that had begun to captivate Jim, she looked up with fun-sparking eyes. "And what of you, Mr. Blair? Are you coming down here to marry too?"

Jim laughed. "Afraid not. I'm a deep sea diver."

"Oh. Looking for mermaids?"

"Nope. Just going to poke around in the general location of latitude 24N, longitude 111W for a while."

"That would be," she murmured carefully, "a quarter of a mile southwest of La Diaz, just off the lower tip of San Roserio Island. Are you, by any chance, employed by the United States government to investigate the Japanese sub-marine sunk there in 1941?"

As Jim stared at her in mute amazement, she gave a soft laugh and turned to slip her hand through the arm of the Captain strolling by.

This man was taught not to drink water

WATER... just plain drinking water... is a mighty scarce item to American soldiers now in the North African deserts. And what little water they can find, often isn't fit to drink.

So before our soldiers were landed in Africa, they were put through a stiff course of training to wean them away from drinking water! They were taught to dip water from streams in cups, and add a dash of iodine before drinking. This served the double purpose of disinfecting the water, and of making it taste pretty terrible.

Each time, a heavier dash of iodine was added (but never enough to be dangerous), until finally the soldiers lost all desire for drinking water except in prepared drinks.

An American soldier's favorite drink

The favorite prepared drink of the American soldier is good, old-fashioned lemonade! But how were our boys to carry lemonade around with them?

The Desert Warfare Board found the answer to that one... in what they call Field Ration K. This provides three meals for one man, each in a separate box, with a total weight of 33 ounces, and a total value of 3,700 calories.

Field Ration K provides meat three times a day... veal luncheon meat for breakfast, pork luncheon meat for dinner at noon, and cervelat sausage at supper time. It provides coffee for breakfast, bouillon for dinner, and a package of lemon juice powder to make lemonade for supper. Ration K also included malted milk tablets, biscuits, a bar of chocolate, and three sticks of chewing gum.

Sounds like "good eatin'" for those American boys in Africa, doesn't it? Makes you feel mighty good to know they're so well cared for! We'll all agree that the best of everything is none too good for our boys!

The things our fighting men need and deserve, cost money. They cost so much money that if we are to provide them, it will mean that each of us will have to invest at least 10 percent of his or her income in War Bonds and Stamps.

Perhaps you are already putting 10 percent of your pay in War Bonds every payday. But can't you boost that 10 percent... just a little? You can if you'll try... and you'll try all right, if you'll just stop and think how badly that money is needed!

Think, too, about what a swell investment War Bonds are. Safest investment in the world... and, for every $3 you invest in War Bonds today, you get back $4 ten years from now!

Referee Given Police Escort Out of Town After Rioting Causes Injuries and Arrests

Allentown, March 3.—(P)—A Bethlehem policeman lost his watch. Hazleton firemen lost track of time. Fifteen hundred rioters lost their tempers. And a referee almost lost his scalp. And it all happened because Bethlehem High lost a basketball game. Hazleton High won, 36-35, annexing the Eastern League championship in a playoff game last night—and rioting followed.

It lasted an hour and police finally used tear gas bombs to restore order. Several persons were injured and nine were arrested. Referee Eddie Brominski, of

BLOMQUISTS AND BAKERY TIED AT TOP

The Monday night "Big Six" is still led by the ace forward of the Blomquists, Bob Lundquist, who is sporting a lead of 14 points over his nearest competitor Buck Samuelson at 57. Starting out on the second half, the Blomquists have a perfect record so far as have the Butter-Krusts after a win apiece on Monday of this week. But five games remain in the second half of the Monday circuit.

In the extra period, Hazleton took a 36-35 lead. Then, with two seconds remaining, Gaskaska, of Bethlehem, scored the goal that Brominski ruled out. The only injured person immediately identified was William Hartzell, 18, who went to the Allentown Hospital with severe lacerations of the skull. One policeman broke his night

PIE TRAYNOR LEAVES BUCS AS SCOUTER

Pittsburgh, Mar. 3.—(P)—Followers of the Pittsburgh Pirates lamented today the passing from the fold of one of their greatest stars, Harold Joseph (Pie) Traynor, as groundkeeper John J. Fogarty left for Munice, Ind., to prepare McCulloch Field for spring training.

The Pirate management disclosed "Pie," one of the game's greatest third basemen of all time and later manager of all time and later manager of the team for six years, had been dropped from the roster. He had served as scout since being succeeded as manager after the 1939 season by Frankie Frisch.

Samuel E. Walters, club vice-president, said Traynor was one of several scouts the club had urged to seek other jobs because of the war-time closing of many minor league teams.

"There just isn't the work for them," the official explained. "In normal times Pie would still be with us."

At his Cincinnati home, Traynor said: "Maybe I'll go back into baseball after the war. But it is hard to say right off just what the future holds for me. I'm not doing anything right now, and I may go into war work shortly."

Pie said one of the biggest things he would miss was the constant contact he had been able to keep with "the kids I picked up myself such as Gustin, Elliott and Fletcher."

Traynor, who is 43, came to Pittsburgh from Portsmouth, in the Virginia league for $10,000. His great arm and fine batting gave him a lifetime batting average of .320 for 1,941 games over 15 years.

Other Pirate scouts who are virtually being let go are Bill Hinchman, of Columbus, O., and Fred (King) Lear of Staten Island, N. Y.

Former Phillie Over-Age For Army

Binghamton, N. Y., March 3.—(P)—William E. (Wild Bill) Hallahan, former major league southpaw discharged from the army because he is over the 38 age limit, will become a warplant worker. Hallahan, who pitched for the Philadelphia Phillies and the Cincinnati Reds and for the St. Louis Cardinals in several world series, received his honorable discharge last week after serving six months with Ft. Niagara's reception center staff.

QUEBEC CITY WANTS TEAM IN EASTERN

Quebec City, Mar. 3.—(P)—The Rev. Harold J. Martin, president of the suspended Canadian-American baseball league, announced today Quebec City of his circuit wants a franchise in the Eastern League.

Father Martin, also co-owner of the Utica Club, confers here today with President Tommy Richardson of eastern relative to Utica landing one of the eastern franchises given up by Williamsport, Pa., and Elmira.

Canadian-American club owners yesterday voted Utica permission to Join Eastern for the duration. Father Martin said if his club gets the franchise it probably will be on a permanent basis. According to baseball law, this would mean Eastern would have to pay the Canadian circuit $10,000 at the end of the war.

Pursuing an outside chance Elmira may still be able to remain in the Eastern League. Richardson plans to talk things over with a group of Elmira citizens Friday. Meanwhile, the Newark, N. J. Bears of the International League announced the purchase of two Elmira's, Pitcher Peter Kunis and Stanley Platek, outfielder.

Richardson disclosed that the Springfield, Mass., franchise had reverted to John Cambria, Cincinnati, because of non-payment of $2,500 by a Springfield syndicate, which purchased the franchise a year ago. Richardson added, however, the Springfield group has made a new proposition to Cambria and is arranging to meet obligations.

COUNTY AUDITORS' REPORT

FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1942

To the Honorable Allison D. Wade, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Warren, Pennsylvania.

stroyed a number of enemy vehicles and tanks near the Axis base at Sidi Bouzid, at Mateur and above Beja. Observers said direct hits were scored on enemy buildings and a farmhouse containing Axis troops.

Advices from the front indicated that Field Marshal Rommel's armored legions were withdrawing steadily toward the coast after surrendering Sbeitla and Feriana to American troops which halted the abortive Axis thrust toward Tébessa.

Rommel already has yielded one-third of the territory he gained in that push at the expense of considerable losses in men and equipment, and it appeared likely he would be forced to relinquish the remainder of this terrain and fall back to Faid Pass, where he started his drive.

Col. Ken, Jürgen von Arnim's forces in the north appeared to be in similar straits. In three days of fighting he has lost 500 men killed and 24 tanks destroyed and the Allied lines before him still are unbroken.

In the air the Germans and Italians have taken a severe beating, losing 25 planes in the central Mediterranean area in one day alone.

(A Reuters correspondent with the British Mediterranean fleet reported a steady flow of American troops, guns and planes into North African ports. Only a few days ago, the correspondent said, he watched the debarkation of a heavily-loaded American convoy.)

Fortress Cleared According to Plan, Germans Declare

suffered serious losses fighting in the east, Axis radios declared yesterday.

There was no indication that replacements were being made for the recalled troops. Unofficial British opinion here was that because of the punishment the Italians had suffered from Russian pounding, both Hitler and Mussolini agreed they could not serve in the east except on garrison duty and that battle-wise troops might be valuable stationed in Italy to resist a possible Allied invasion of the Italian coast.

Water Plant Improved At Youngsville

Youngsville, March 3.—At the meeting of the Youngsville Council held Monday evening, March 1, in the Borough Building with all members present, the third and final reading of ordinance No. 179 was passed. This ordinance fixed the rate at fifteen (15) mills and levied the borough taxes for 1943.

Arthur Westcott of Jamestown, N. Y., has been hired as Chief of Police for Youngsville, filling the vacancy made by the resignation of Paul Delham.

Beginning April 1, all water bills and sewer rentals will be due and payable at the Borough Secretary's office in the new section of the borough building on Railroad street. The office will open from 9 a. m. to 12:15 p. m. and from 1:15 p. m. to 5 p. m. during the week days except Saturday when the time open will be from 9 a. m. to 12:30 p. m.

Following the regular meeting members adjourned to the Water Works building where extensive repairs and improvements are being made. The Council members also suggested for consideration further improvements which should be completed at this time.

HAIRCUTS BOOSTED IN PRICE IN PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, March 3.—(P)—The price of haircuts in most downtown barber shops jumped from 60 to 75 cents today.

Rene A. Mortelette, a vice-president of the State Master Barbers, reported that independent barbers joined with members of The Associated Master Barbers of America in raising the price. Shaves remain at 35 cents.

Lack of experienced help and higher prices for supplies were the reasons, Mortelette said.

SNOW BLANKETS MOST OF THE STATE TODAY

March's first snowfall blanketed Pennsylvania today.

The storm, accompanied by freezing temperatures and in some areas by high winds, struck western Pennsylvania last night, moving into eastern counties early today.

By mid-morning the fall already was several inches deep in many sections and was expected to continue throughout the day.

The mercury hovered between 5 and 20 degrees above zero.

General MacArthur's aim also was to pound the Japanese and attacked planes punishing the air-drome area. At the same time his bombers attacked airbases on Soemba and Soemba islands, northwest of Australia, destroying an ammunition ship directly with a 500-pound bomb at Wide Bay, New Britain, and smashed at the Gasmata, New Britain, airbase in an after-dusk raid, the communiqué said.

President Completes Tenth Year Amid Fourth Term Talk

day regarding his political future as he was four years ago. "If he feels he's got to go ahead, he will. If there is any way he can decently duck it, I think he'll do so. He'll look for any 'out' he can."

He further qualified that statement later, but not until after he had noted the parallel between present-day political factors and those of March, 1933, when third term talk began to buzz.

At the midway point between his second and third term, the president's odds with congress over appropriations and nominations, just as he is today—with some additions now traceable to the war. Efforts were being made then, as now, to bring the White House and Capitol Hill closer together. The president's problems of four years ago have since increased because of the reduced Democratic majorities in congress and the heaping of actual war problems onto those to the shaky peace period.

There was anti-third term talk then among the anti-new deal Democrats and third party threats. Today, the "no fourth-term" movement has been launched quietly, and third party gestures are coming from two fronts—by some southern Democrats contingent on Roosevelt becoming a candidate, and by American Labor Party officials in New York provided both major parties nominate "conservative" candidates.

With the presidential nominating convention about 16 months away, Republicans openly predict their party will win the presidency and congress. They say the "trend" shown in their victories in the last two off-year elections will gather impetus and swamp the Democrats next year.

A party veteran who discussed the outlook anonymously, so he could speak plainly, declared Gov. M. M. Neely of West Virginia spoke "entirely on his own" when he recently predicted a fourth term.

Propose Tax to Hike Pay of Teachers

on the ground that it would lead to hasty war weddings, the measure was passed 28-12, and sent to the house.

The senate also passed and sent to the house a bill to establish county mental clinics to examine persons accused of crimes.

The Republican majority decided to delay until next week attempts to confirm Dr. Frank Parker of Philadelphia as a member of the Public Utility Commission. His nomination has been opposed by Democrats in senate speeches.

The house also received a bill to raise unemployment compensation benefits from the present minimum of $7.50 to $10 and the maximum from $18 to $20, while a senate committee said public hearings will be held soon on a measure to lower employer contributions to the compensation fund.

Another senate committee will meet next week to decide whether additional hearings are necessary before it makes recommendations to the legislature on a bill which would scrap the state's eight-month-old parole system.

The Creightons hurried to the steel city and brought back Gary last night. He apparently was none the worse for his adventure. Just how he managed to get two blocks to the station from the department store and board the train remained a mystery.

THREE-YEAR-OLD HAS RARE EXPERIENCE

Altoona, March 3.—(P)—Three-year-old Gary Creighton was home today with his happy parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Creighton, after a thrilling "hitchhike" train ride to Pittsburgh.

The parents missed the youngster while shopping in a department store yesterday shortly after noon. They searched about for several hours, checking hospitals and police, before a message came from Pittsburgh that the crew of a train had turned the youngster over to authorities there—90 miles from home.

The Creightons hurried to the steel city and brought back Gary last night. He apparently was none the worse for his adventure. Just how he managed to get two blocks to the station from the department store and board the train remained a mystery.

Opportunity For Women In Naval Service

"If I join the WAVES or SPARS, can I become a commissioned officer?" This is one of the questions frequently put to Chief Petty Officer Albert Harrison, Jr., by prospective applicants for the WAVES or SPARS, and the answer is definitely, "yes".

The road for promotion to commissioned status is open to any outstanding WAVES and SPARS. Each individual is encouraged and assisted, with the necessary studies, so that she may qualify herself for entry into officer candidate school. Besides the opportunity to attain commissioned rank, the road is also open for promotion to the higher brackets of Petty Officers. A Chief Petty Officer, highest of these ranks, earns more than $200 per month, including allowances.

Each WAVE or SPAR graduating from training school, like all men in seagoing services, will be urged to begin study for advancement. A wait of several months is required for promotion from one grade to another, but each higher grade, bringing more money and more chevrons, is worth the time and study required.

Enlisted WAVES or SPARS aspiring to commissions must have at least six months' service before they are eligible.

Gustav Olson serves as a member of the Warren county council advisory committee and in this capacity supervises the Scout advancement work done in the troops of Ludlow.

Block Plan Organization Under Way Throughout Community

Mrs. Palmer Davis, chairman of the Block Plan under the County Council of Defense is active at the present time in the organization of the plan to cover the city. The block plan is an arrangement of an organization to assure total coverage of all households for civilian war service. Civilian war services are those civilian activities, other than protection, with which communities and individuals must be concerned as part of their contribution to the prosecution of the war. They include saving, transportation, war savings services for service men, recreation, consumer interests, nutrition, health and medical care, welfare and child care, housing, education, agriculture, labor supply and training and plant utilization.

As the name suggests the block system is set up on a geographic basis and in some cities the actual city block is the unit of organization. In most places however the air raid warden sectors are used.

Many of the programs developed by the defense councils depend for success on the direct cooperation of all households in the community. The best way to secure this is by contact with the heads of meetings, rallies, car sharing plans, the sharing of scarce mechanical and household equipment and any other activity of the community's war service.

Mrs. Davis is now setting up her organization and expects within a fortnight to have it in a workable condition when meetings of the workers will be called and the complete group organized ready for the duties it will perform.

The maximum rubber production for 1943 is estimated at 790,000 tons; military demands estimated at 325,000 tons; lend-lease, 141,000 tons; essential civilian use, 111,000 tons. These demands will leave an estimated stock of only 213,000 tons at the end of the year.
